For this years Melbourne Fringe Festival

With The Dog Theatre @ Footscray Town Hall

A man believes himself to be running down a road at night, but cannot recall who he is nor why he is running.

A dark and fascinating physical drama.

'If someone was on the run, one might imagine that that someone had done something wrong – its not always the case, but the hypothesis must be entertained – that I've got blood on my hands.

A man believes himself to be running down a road at night, but cannot recall who he is nor why he is running. He cannot help but seek the source of why he runs. After repeated attempts to dismiss the findings of an unruly imagination, the man eventually admits to having committed a terrible crime. Unable to outrun his own darkness, on his journey to nowhere, the man discovers his humanity. A dark and fascinating physical drama.

TOM DAVIES has performed in a wide range of theatrical and dance works, including De Quincey Co's Run: A Performance Engine 2009, FIVE Short Solos 2005 and Dictionary of Atmospheres as part of Alice Desert Festival 2005, Melbourne Theatre Company's Metamorphoses 2003 and In-Compatibility by Yumi Umiumare and Tony Yap as part of Melbourne International Festival 2003.

JOHN BOLTON was the head of acting at the Victorian College of the Arts and has recently returned from working with the Sydney Theatre Company as movement advisor on Andrew Upton's production of Long Day's Journey Into Night. John's own show Jumping Mouse has travelled the world from The Traverse Theatre Edinburgh and The Dublin Festival to The New Zealand International Festival through America, Australia and New Zealand. John received the Kenneth Myer Medallion for a life time contribution to the arts in 2007.

As a part of The Dog Theatre program at the Footscray Town Hall
