Apathy International

Move me? Provoke me? I dare you.

I realised that my emotions were no longer able to be intelligently articulated. As humans we named ourselves the superior race, now the earth is dying and we've lost intimacy with our existence. Caught adrift in the stagnant urgency of time, come and be present in it.

Apathy International combines movement, colour and prose to experiment with and explore the murky realm of human existence.

This project has come alive through a collaboration between Danielle Reynolds and Lec Hunter.

Set in an old cinema space in the heart of North Fitzroy, we invite audiences to take a peek into the fragility and beauty of what we love, what we lose and what we know.
