Don't Call Us, We'll Call You

'Don't Call Us, We'll Call You' follows the excessively passionate journey of a wannabe celebrity as she attempts to find a talent that will turn her into a "rich, famous, awesomely cool megastar". With original songs by Jessica Gulasekharam, and including everything from flute and piano to tap dancing, this fun and quirky cabaret is unlike anything you've seen before.

Witty, charming, and a little bit whacky, 'Don't Call Us, We'll Call You' takes a satirical look at today's obsession with celebrity culture. Jessica Gulasekharam plays a naïve, yet avidly determined character who is desperate to achieve the "Justin Bieber level of megastardom" that she's always dreamed of. With attempts at ballet dancing, tap dancing, flute playing, piano playing and acting, there's never a dull moment in this charismatic new cabaret show.

'Don't Call Us, We'll Call You' is the first original work by up-and-coming writer/performer Jessica Gulasekharam. Jessica made her professional theatre debut performing in the 2006 season of 'Fiddler on the Roof' alongside Topol.

For two nights only at Melbourne's home of cabaret The Butterfly Club, 'Don't Call Us, We'll Call You' is an exciting new cabaret that is not to be missed at this year's Melbourne Fringe Festival.
