Isaac's Apple

Presented by Dancus Collective

A machine can drive momentum, acceleration and force - but the human body has strength, agility and flair.

Dancus Collective present a charged fusion of dancers and circus artists in a show that will stir your imagination and questions the order of motion.

Isaac's Apple is a new show devised by an eclectic group of artists. Dancus Collective is made up of Tayo Wilson, Simone Ivkovic, Matthew Anderson, Amy Nightingale-Olsen and Chris Peard, who bring together contemporary circus and dance.

Performed in the unique converted warehouse of Revolt Art Space in Kensington, Dancus Collective transform the loading dock into a wild and explosive stage space.

This charged show of physical theatre encompasses tumbling, aerials, contemporary dance and many other physical feats. Isaac's Apple is accompanied in part by an original soundscape and live percussion.
