Kept

What are you keeping?

'Kept' is a physical theatre performance, heavily inspired by contemporary dance. It features some familiar tunes and is light on dialogue, but that's not to say it's all fun and games. The work tells of love, and the loss of oneself in love. Performances will be held at The Burlesque Bar on Johnston Street, Fitzroy. Come down and find out what we're keeping!

'Kept' is devised and directed by Jessica McGinness-Whyte, who majored in both Drama and Dance at Deakin University.

Played out on a small stage, it stars a relatively large cast of 3 women and 1 man.

Iseult Lenoir is another Deakin graduate. An innocent creature by day, but can often be spotted dancing up a storm at Bottoms Up burlesque school.

Ophelia Urquhart is a real fire-cracker who enjoys making outfits out of latex!

And, don't mess with Rose Marie, she will prove she's no push over.

Laurence Corneschi is a Performing Arts graduate from Victoria University, and the lucky (or unlucky) man, trying to tame these lovely ladies.
