LoveFridge

Mini-whimsy straight from the heart

Michelle “Baggas” Baginski invites you to immerse yourself for less than ten minutes in “LoveFridge”, a bite-sized performance rooted in intimate storytelling. It’s mini-whimsy straight from the heart in a mini-space for two to four persons at a time. Find it in the Fringe Hub – The Warren, Arts House, North Melbourne.

“LoveFridge” seeks to flavour little, innovative spaces with a warm concoction of live music, spoken word and reverse audience Q and A and in the process, communicate with the spaces beyond the head.

The work birthed publicly in an old bank vault in an heritage-listed building during the 2011 Adelaide Fringe Festival.

All performances are free, with the invitation to pay what you think your heart is worth.

Suitability is for adults only.

It’s about putting your pickle in my sandwich. Bite down or spit it out.
