Sarah Jones

Does not play well with others

Melbourne-based ventriloquist and comedian Sarah Jones presents her hilarious and quirky show "Sarah Jones: Does not play well with others" at the Melbourne Fringe Festival this September.

Sarah has spent years developing her skills as a ventriloquist and is one of only a handful in Australia with the ability to perform this rare art form.

Her show is debuting at the Melbourne Fringe Festival and will run from the 23rd until the 28th of September.

Sarah Jones: Does not play well with others is a quirky comedy for grown ups, quite unlike your average puppet show. Sarah is joined by a host of characters including an evil childhood toy cat, a rude diary and even her well meaning but embarrassing uncle in puppet in form. Sarah can make anything talk and she is even able to turn an unsuspecting audience member into a puppet. Don't worry though, she always practices safe puppetry.
