Suspended Shorts New Short Works by Shifting Light Collective

Aerial-Dance-Theatre Company Shifting Light Collective premieres 'Suspended Shorts' at The Melbourne Fringe Festival. For two nights this new company of internationally renowned female artists illuminates the Northcote Uniting Church Hall. Presenting an intimate night of works that shifts focus, questions perceptions and dares to expose their fragility as well as their strength. 22-23 September. High Street. Northcote.

Shifting Light Collective are a group of artists who have gained international recognition in their fields over the past thirteen years, as circus and dance performers, choreographers and teachers. SLC fuses circus, dance and theatre, creating a place where the performance can cross over genres and where the work can question as well as entertain. This is circus but not as you know it.

'Suspended Shorts' is designed to take the audience on a journey, through a series of short works that both relate and stand alone.

Gone are the days when men and women's roles were clear. At the dawn of metrosexuality, and the birth of the boyzilian what was once gender specific is now fair game.

The ground is shifting, our perceptions are changing, the lights are on but is anyone at home?

It is rare to find silence and space in our hectic lives, to give ourselves time to question or to be still. The biggest, brightest and loudest rules.

SLC invite you to slow your pace, as we turn the volume down and step into the shadows in search of our own shoes.

An intimate night of works where strength meets fragility and what is in the shadows is brought into the light.

""Undoubtedly one of the most innovative artists performing today."" - Julian Bracey. Cirque Bijou.UK
